

On NPAs' crisis, Vedanta chief Anil Agarwal says 'there will be no shortage of money for good work'

"I am an ordinary person, who has been laden with ample amount of money, that to in a foreign land. In recent past (on a Friday), I decided to bid for the Essar Steel but needed to have a commitment of Rs 35-40,000 crore in the bank. To try my luck, I just gave a phone call and Rs 60,000 crores was available in my account," said Anil Agarwal, the founder and Chairman of Vedanta Resources Plc.
